Mentored Youth Hunting Program

The Pennsylvania State Chapter has long supported initiatives to attract more young hunters and preserve the tradition of turkey hunting.

We helped to create the special youth spring gobbler hunting season and our members are dedicated to "taking a kid hunting". The NWTFF has been a major player in the Families Afield Program, a coalition of organizations encouraging states to become more "hunter friendly". Families Afield legislation was passed last year creating a Mentored Youth Hunting Program in the Commonwealth so that youngsters below the age of 12 can hunt under the close direction of a mentor. Members of our chapter served on the committee that helped to assure the success of that legislation. Now our local chapters are expanding their participation in youth hunting initiatives by encouraging members to become mentors and supporting regulations to make sure spring gobbler hunting was included as a mentored youth hunting activity.
